G. W. U. ARCHITECTS
WILL HOLD EXHIBIT

The architectural department of George Washington University tomorrow will open its free exhibition of student work, which will continue until April 5. The exhibit will be held in the university's administration building, 2101 G street northwest, and will be open both day and evening. The public has been invited.

The exhibit has the patronage of the local and national chapters of the American Institute of Architects, both of which organizations have aided materially in bringing the architectural department to its present flourishing condition. The local chapter in 1912 received the architectural department of the university by furnishing a guarantee fund of $1,000, and the national chapter has given the university $500 in money and its valuable library of 1,500 volumes on architectural subjects. Arrangements for the exhibit have been under direction of the faculty of the architectural department, composed of Prof. A. B. Bibb, instructor in the history of architecture and in free-hand drawing and water color; Prof. A. L. Harris, instructor in wood and masonry construction, heating and ventilating, and sanitation and plumbing; Assistant Prof. Bedford Brown, instructor in design and Beaux Arts problems; and Assistant Prof. Delos Smith, instructor in elementary design, shades, shadows, and perspective.

DOCTOR SOLD DOPE,
GETS TWO YEARS

BALTIMORE, Md., March 26.—Parke P. McCubbin, a druggist at Barclay and Twenty-second streets, was sentenced to two years in the Government prison at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday by Judge Rose in the United States Court, on conviction of selling cocaine without a physician's prescription. His wife, Mrs. Estelle A. McCubbin, convicted with him, was fined $1,000 and costs, amounting to $1,000.00.

Mrs. McCubbin paid her fine and was released, but she and her son and daughter accompanied Dr. McCubbin to jail, where he will be confined until he is taken to Atlanta. United States District Attorney Dennis and Assistant District Attorney Latane prosecuted the case, and Albert S. J. Owens was attorney for the defense.

Frank N. Phipps, of Washington, who said he had been a drug addict for eighteen years, was the prosecuting witness. For three years, he said, he had been buying morphine and cocaine twice a week at McCubbin's store on the prescriptions of a physician. Early this year he acted with internal revenue officials to obtain evidence against Dr. McCubbin and his wife.

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH
HISTORY IS REVIEWED

The history of St. Patrick's Church, the first Catholic Church in this city, was given in a paper read by Virginia King Frye at a meeting of the Columbia Historical Society last night in the Shoreham Hotel.

According to the reader, the church was established in 1794 on E street, between Ninth and Tenth streets northwest, the sum of eighty pounds in English money having been paid for the lot on which the church was erected.

Father William Matthews was the first pastor of the church, and he introduced the first pipe organ brought into the District. The cornerstone of the present structure was laid in 1872. The first mass was celebrated in it in 1884 by the present rector, Mgr. Cornelius P. Thomas.

The society admitted twenty-one persons to membership.

ALLEGES MISCONDUCT.

Misconduct is alleged in a suit for absolute divorce filed by Thomas A. Mauck against Grace E. Mauck. They were married in Hagerstown, Md., and have two children. Mauck is represented by Attorney George P. Hart, and the wife has been officially notified of her husband's action.
